A CARD.—CALLED INTO NOTORIETY, AND, AS A Lord Byron once said, "Waking one morning and finding myself famous," I am compelled, in vindication of my character as a gentleman, and my reputation as an actor, to offer these few remarks to the consideration of the brethren and sisters of the profession with which I am connected, and upon which I depend for a livelihood. The actors, or cheertra, and all and every of the attackes of the National Theatre, upheld and encouraged me in my course, when, the other evening, I was compelled to respond to the vociferoutal of the ending of the state of the estimation in which they held me, and their appreciation of the conduct of the star of the evening in the piece then fluished, and yet this person appears in an article accusalm me of being the leader of a clique against him. He knows to be say that, directly or indirectly, I purchased one ticket on any of the succeeding nights of excitement. I was satisfied with the triumph accorded me by the spectators of the outrage offered before them, whilst he was thunderstruck to find that New York justice, (to which he has appealed so pathetically since,) could ever reach Barney Wilkiams, Esq. I regret being forced to this step; but it is due to the friends who, unbidden, have approved of my course, and to myself, to make the matter understood in the different theaters of the Union in which I had the pleasure of playing, and to which chance may again direct me. Confident in the truth, and referring those interested respectfully to the proper source, relative to the "Cenjuance" of the affair, I diamies the subject into the obscurity it merits.

INDIA RIBBER GOODS.

R URBER CAR SPRINGS.—THE FOLLOWING AD ditional tentimonial to the merits of F. M. RAY'S India Rubber Car Springs, over all others, has just been received. It needs no comment:—Hudson River Railroad Office, 68 Warren street, New York March 5, 1852. F. M. Ray, Eug.—Dear Sir: Since my connection with this road, I have matched with much interest the matter of Rubber Springs for railroad cars, and have no hositation in saying that your pring is incomparably the best article which I have seen or used. I have tried others and found them to fail under pressure, or to frees in cold weather, and become worse high uscless. I should prefer using yours at double their cost, to employing any other rubber spring which has fallen under my notice. Your Springs possess the rare quality of preserving their elasticity at all temperatures. Your, &c., ille then, at great length, sustained this position, by a recital of the events of that period, and those following after the French revolution, the reception of the French minister by the President and Congress, &c., &c. He referred to the revolutions in South America, and the efforts by the holy league to maintain the supremacy of Spain; and cited the action of Congress, and Mr. Monroe's precedings, all as solemn protests by the United States.

All these events he dotailed, with much minuteness and precision, and commented upon them as he progressed.
He referred, also, to the proceedings pursued in the case of Greece. He referred to the prompt recognition of the French republic, in 1848, by the United States minister, and the subsequent approval of that conduct by the government of the United States. A spark from the fame which broke out in Paris kindled the material which had long been gathering by Kosauth and his compatriots in House of Representatives. Washington, March 9, 1852 The Scrate bill, amending the acts of 1847 and 1848 relative to the carriage of passengers in merchant vessels.

The House resumed the consideration of the bill grant-

The House resumed the consideration of the bill granting the right of way and lands to aid the Selina and Gunter's Landing Railroad.

Mr. Cosa, (dem.) of Ala., who introduced the measure, speke in its favor, showing the many blessings—commercial agricultural, and defensive—which will result from the construction of the road. He moved that the bill be put on its passage.

Mr. CLINGMAN. (whig) of N. C., desirous of getting a test vote, offered an amendment, in effect to exempt, all railroad from from duty.

The Separata decided the amendment to be out of order, on the ground that it was irrelevant.

Mr. Oas, (dom.) of S. C., appealed from the decision of the Chair.

Mr. Hall. (dem.) of Mo. moved that the appeal be hald upon the table, which motion prevailed, by ayes 86, may 20.

Mr. White. (whig) of Ala. proceeded to show that the bill was not only local but national in its character, and took the ground that the government was made to promote the happiness and welfare of the people; and when it ceases to do this, the people will abandon it. He spoke carnesty in favor of appropriating lands for railroad purposes which will bind all the hearts of this Union together, and thus promote the common prosperity. He asked for the appropriation not alone for Alabama, but for the eather country. No question was taken.

Mr. Piglera, (dem.) of Mo., rose to a question of privilege, and presented the position of A. W. Raynolds, con-instration of the course of the whig party, to which Mr. Davis belonged; but he avoids the issue, and dodges of to maintsin his consistency, and attack mine. What (said Mr. Rantout) does the country or the world care for the consistency of either of us? The gentleman said the coalition was corrupt. I accept that issue. He has not pointed out any law, or cesolution, or act of the coalition, which he has chard to assail, or the men placed in office by that coalition, who are better men than those who were removed to make room for them. The coalition was a good coalition, so far as its acts and appointments go; and now we come back to the question, whether it was infamous and corrupt. If it was, his colleague stands justified; if not, his colleague may see for himself how he stands. Mr. Brantout than quoted from Mr. Davis's letter, accepting his nomination for Congress, in which he declared his concurrence in the views of the Whig District Convention against the Fugitive Slave law. This showed that it was not so very long since his colleague had changed his opinions. Are there he asked, ten men in my colleague's district who would have voted for him, if they had believed that he entertained the principles which he expressed on Saturday in relation to that subject. This is a question for the hon, gentleman to answer. Mr. Rantoul, in the course of his remarks with regard to his own consistency, said that he had not, for the hast twenty years, acted in a corner. He had specked in Massachusten, and proceeded to show that he had been strictly consistent in his political course. He denied that he puffed himself in the Springfield (II) Register, and offered evidence to prove the reverse of the ellegation. He had naintained an opposition to the Fugitive Slave Law, and did not intimate to anybody at the time of the compromise that he was favorable to that law. In the course of his remarks, he said he bedieved that he voted for Gen. Case, and did all not approve of the Nicholan letter. He again advented to the condition to committee then rose, and the House adjourned

DEFEAT OF CARAVAJAL CONFIRMED, ETC.

Washington, March 9, 1852.

The National Intelligencer has a private dispatch confirming the defeat of Caravajal, in his attack on Camargo. He had only 522 men. 84 of whom were Mexicans, and the belance "fillfunctoro." Most of them escaped to the American side of the river.

The Intelligencer also learns that the reports of difficulties between the American and French governments are entirely unfounded.

THE CANAL LETTINGS—THE JOINT COMMITTER'S REPORT—CHYSTAL PALACE—STATE PRINTER—GUBERNATORIAL MANGION—MIKE WALSH EXPECTS TO OC

A resolution was adopted by the Assembly to-day, cali-ing on the Canal Fund Committee to report the testi-mony forthwith. This was done because the report was not presented by them this morning as promised for a certainty. The report of the committee will be certainly made to-morrow morning. It was the intention to present it to-day, but it could not be copied in season. There will be only one report; and rumor says that the com-mittee declare that, from the testimony, they can discever no deliberate intention of fraud on the part of any of the State officers; and although some of the contracts bidders, the discretion given in the law to the commis-sioners and engineers, justified them in making the awards as they might think most for the interest of the sioners and engineers, justified them in making the awards as they might think most for the interest of the State. This information as to the character of the forthcoming report is not derived directly from any member of the committee; nevertheless, it comes from a reliable source, and will be found audistantially correct. There is no truth in the rumor that this report has been purposely delayed until Judge Cady's opinion, in the mandamus case, should be promulgated.

In the Senate, to-day, Mr. Vanderbilt reported a bill to incorporate a company to build a Crystal Falace in the city of New York. It was referred to the city Senator, to report complete, which was done immediately, and the bill was ordered to a third reading. It will pass the Senate; and the American Institute must hurry up this way, if they intend to defeat it in the House.

A printing bill was reported in the Assembly, authorizing the Governor, Comptreller, and Attorney General to ap point a printer, at a samry of two thousand dollars a year, and appropriating $15.000 to purchase an office. Senator Cocley will oppose the proposition.

A bill to provide for the exection of an executive mansion, came up for consideration in the Assembly, this morning. During the discussion. William C. Liocs, well known as the "Rechester Wag," whispered in the car of a member from Jefferson that the mansion should have four writs. This idea struck the honorable geniteman as being perfectly correct, so he sprang upon has feet and offered an amendment, directing that the building should have four walls. Several members, who were post cd up on political reminicences, raised a laugh, as the proposition brought to mind that the State, at one time, owned a mansion, which was alteged to have only three walls; but the genuleman from Jefferson, in the midet dist he wished the manion be built without leaning upon may other wall. The House was convuised with laughter while the genuleman foor Jefferson, in the midet of his vertamey and ignorance has not probably been advi

this moment.

Mike Walsh said he was in favor of appropriating a liberal amount for the purpose of creeling an executive mansion. He said it is well known that, in the eyes of distinguished personages, in this as well as foreign countries, the Governor of the State of New York occupies a position only equalled by the President of the United States. Not only thruid a suiteble mansion be provided, but the State should appropriate to thousand dellars to keep up the establishment in respectable style. It was a manted by a gentleman who preceded him, that person, in the middling and lower classes are as likely to be etceled Governer as those moving in any other sphere of life. This was true, and one reason why he had not entered into an etaberate discussion of this bill was, that he thought it rather immediest and indelicate to meddle with matter of a personal nature, as he had no doubt of being exited, at no distant day, to occupy the executive names on himself. Mike recursed his scat, clothed in his usual gravity and scriousness, while the House, galleries and lobbies, burst out into involuntary horse laughter, stamping, and chapping of hands.

The bell passed appropriating $50,000 for building the meansion, but it will probably cost four times that amount before ready for occupation.

The executive session to day was under the full control of the whigs, as Senator Otis did not return, as expected. There is no doubt but a large number of appointments were continued, among others, several County Loan Commissioners, and a large batch of New York Harbor Masters.

The Governor offers a reward of $200 for the apprehen-

Commissioners, and a large batch of New York Harbor Masters.

The Governor offices a reward of $200 for the apprehension of Jerry Delany, who was indicted for murder in Troy a short time since.

The Compirciler, in his report made to the Senate yeartrays, states that the sum of $1.700,000 of debt has been created within a few years, in violation of the constitution. He amounces, also, the abruning fact that the treasury of the State is in such a zickly condition that he has been compelled, since February I, to overdraw the account of the Treasury for a large sum, to meet the ordinary expenses of the State. Will not the public be semewhat startled at this announcement?

Observed in Orrostron to the Mark Lagon Law.—Last evening Enoch B. Camp. Esq., delivered a lecture in one of the rooms at Metropolitan Hall, in opposition to the Maine Liquor law. The attendance was not large, and was entirely one of the male sex. The oration was very lengthy, and the speaker entered into an elaboraterist of the property of the common of the rooms of the property of the common of the returns are doubled for every single offence, and that nearly all the offences are faisely attributable to drunkenness. He said that the returns of each policeman frequently contain arrests of thirty or forty persons a month, while it is a notorious fact that not a single arrest has been made. He characterized the report of the Chief of rolice as a double its and instanced the recent nurders—these by Benson and Bouglas, by Colt, by Dr. Webster, and several others—and asked if they were caused by intemperance? No, be contended they were all for the love of geln. Then he need not instance the several minancides, and hundridge from love, which were not the result of intemperance. The speaker opposed all coordive measures to advance temperance, as contrary to common come, and productive of evil, and showed that drunkards will smike and est optum, and that he as experiment use of are at a parts neither produced disease nor intemperance of area and autors has eithed the fact that a moderate use of area at a parts neither produced disease nor intemperance.
